

022_369 Not about the Brain per se, but about the Brain of today...

Author: Fedor Dmitrievich Shkrudnev

We study our Brain with our own Brain.

You can only understand what you can fix. This can only be done with something that has attributes: qualities, characteristics, coordinates, shape, mass, weight, energy, and so on. What has no signs CANNOT be FIXED. What cannot be fixed cannot be called existing. What cannot be defined as existing CANNOT be UNDERSTOOD. Any part of the world, from an elementary particle to a galaxy, from a bacterium to a person, is some kind of object and phenomenon, a quantity. It can be fixed, embraced and understood. But the World and the Management System (CS) of this whole world, as a whole, is NOT a QUANTITY, BUT AN INFINITY. In principle, it cannot be covered, since it is not a quantity. It is the only thing that cannot be called existing, not because it does not exist, but because IT IS MORE THAN EXISTENCE and does not fit into the concept of "existence", since it has no signs, qualities, characteristics and coordinates. It cannot be defined by any word, because every definition draws a boundary, whereas finiteness goes beyond any boundaries. Therefore, when someone says that he "communicates with the CS, has some kind of contact or direct telephone communication with it, moreover, this person claims that the CS told him what to do and how to do it ... even with the use of the "SvetL" Complex, "feel free to send this "expert" to the fence on which something is written, usually briefly and succinctly – and let him make sure that there is no such thing behind the fence. We need to understand once and for all – the Management System (both Old and New) is a mechanism through which the intended plan is realized within the vector of goals and phenomena of entirely everything on our Earth. The paradoxes that surround us require at least some explanations, and the simplest thing for "experts" has been to "blame" everything on the CS. Just try to look at what is happening from a different angle. If, for example, I ask you NOT to FULFILL my wishes, you come to a dead end. If we imagine water that can talk, and when it lies, it freezes, what should happen to it if it says: "I'm going to freeze"? If it's not frozen, then it lied, and it should freeze from lying. If it freezes, then it told the truth, and the truth does not freeze it. So what should happen to the talking water, that freezes because of a lie and that said "I'm going to freeze"?

Our Brain can only operate with quantities (unchanged or growing infinitely - these are just details). The very fact that we think indicates that we think of the magnitude, and not of the infinite.

It's like with apophatic theology, which says: if you think of God, you don't think of God. Similarly, here - if we think of finiteness, we do not think of finiteness. Infinity is neither this nor that, nor anything that is fixed, or that can potentially be fixed. The same applies to the Control System.

The phrase "to know everything" is symmetrical in its meaninglessness to the phrase "round square". To search for the meaning of life by analogy with the search for the right move in chess is as meaningless as asking what will happen if an all-piercing projectile crashes into impenetrable armor. The mind CALMLY THINKS separately of the projectile and the armor, but when trying to combine these two concepts, IT CRASHES. If the projectile penetrates the armor, it means that it is not impenetrable. If it does not break through, then the projectile is not all piercing. If the projectile and armor match their characteristics, then their meeting in the real world is not imagined. If the answer is impossible, then the question is impossible.

Similarly with infinity, if it is captured, it is not infinite. If it is enveloped – it is not infinite. If it is not enveloped, then you cannot think of it. The mind in relation to infinity is in in a prison with infinitely thick walls. You can cut a tunnel through them as much as you want, you will never be able to get out. A person always STRIVES to SYSTEMATIZE what he knows. There has always been a huge problem with the idea of infinity and it remains to this day, even after we learned about the "existence" of a certain Control System through which everything and everyone is "ruled". The existence of infinity was captured, but it was NOT FIXED in any way and did not fit on any shelf. And if it was shoved there, it broke all the harmony. It was impossible to deny it, as well as to recognize it, i.e. to capture it in any image, form or characteristic.

Today, our Mind can separate any object, phenomenon or Entity from the rest, embrace and understand (partially or completely - these are just details). But it cannot separate infinity, since infinity IS EVERYTHING. What cannot be separated, it is impossible to understand - to embrace with feeling and thought.

It is IMPOSSIBLE to COVER EVERYTHING, not because of the lack of our intellectual capacities, but because of the incompatibility of the two concepts: "capture" and "everything". I think that even if the Brain "operated at full capacity", this still would not be possible to do this. But a purposeful striving for this is necessary! You need to want, really want to know and learn. The DECISION is ALWAYS YOURS.

All that is written below is information. Information for use by those who want to know.

Warning to all Users of the "SvetL" Complexes

On the night of 25 October, 2021, a very difficult barrier episode of the transition period will take place to commit a huge number of events that will be embodied in the future.

Some of them will manifest in:

- a short time;
- a very long time;
- a very, very long time.

The informational explanation of these events will be expressed in articles on the websites of the RNTO (Russian Scientific and Technological Society), the SRI CPS (Scientific and Research Institute – the Center for Preventative Strategies) and in groups of Participants of New Knowledge. Since many of these events are associated with major changes in the Life Support System of people and the "SvetL" Complexes (their Generators) in any form of existence, they require Program adjustments.

The instruction is for mandatory execution

All interruptions in the operations of the "SvetL" Complexes from mid-September to the present are related to the upcoming events.

The main SvetL Complex

24 October until 20:00 Moscow time – turn off the Complex. Set the power to "O". Wrap the Complex in foil (food grade) and put it in the room where the Owner (user) sleeps.

25 October – "do not touch" Complex.

26 October after 15.00 Moscow time – remove the foil and throw it out of the house. After discard of foil – "Turn on" the Complex and set the power to one hundred percent, previously (if there is a need or desire) change the previously set positions at your discretion.

Complex - Dome "DI"

24 October until 20:00 Moscow time – wrap the Complex in foil (food grade) and put it in its regular place.

25 October – "do not touch" Complex.

26 October after 15.00 Moscow time – remove the foil and throw it out of the house. Leave the complex in its regular place.

Complexes:

Bracelet "SvetL",

Bracelet "SLN",

Complex "SvetL-K" (Pendant)

24 October until 20:00 Moscow time – wrap the Complex in foil (food grade) and put it under the pillow of the Owner (user).

25 October – "do not touch" Complex.

26 October after 15.00 Moscow time – remove the foil and throw it out of the house. After discarding the foil, hold the Complex in your left hand for a minute and then put it on. Wear without removing for at least three days. Take it off as a last resort if the condition worsens for any reason and DO NOT WEAR it for three days, and then repeat the procedure described for 26 October.

Owners of salt lamps

24 October until 20:00 Moscow time – turn on the lamp for permanent operation until 15.00 on 26 October. After that, turn off the lamp and switch it to normal operation.

All Owners (users) it is necessary to strictly and accurately follow these Instructions.

Please pass this information on to the Users of the "SvetL" Complexes before the designated time of action.

P. S.

Regarding people taking VVV-369/Mumijo. Take in the same proportions, however from 24 to 28 October take it twice a day: in the morning and in the evening. Then switch to regular use.

And last, but within the framework of what has been written.

Many people ask me: "Will the "SvetL" Programs develop and improve based on what is happening?..". I give an example from open sources.

Rospotrebnadzor introduced mandatory standards for the content of hormones and some antibiotics in drinking water. This was announced by the head of the department Anna Popova. According to her, the regulations will complement the global practice. "For example, we introduced mandatory standards for the content of hormones in drinking water, an additional number of antibiotics. We have harmonized with European WHO standards, which are now in force, "- said Anna Popova in an interview. According to the head of Rospotrebnadzor, now the main task of the agency is to explain to the population why they need certain standards. But everything that is written in the sanitary requirements is necessary, because, "as my colleagues say, it is written with someone's health," Popova stressed.

You can take someone's statements on faith and deduce the meaning of life from them, and your knowledge and understanding, but I am convinced that today there is no point in believing anyone or anything in such and similar matters. That's what A. M. Khatybov would have answered about this, or rather, he already answered in his writings about water ("Water"). And this is only a small part of the information for comprehension. The first major scientific discovery about the use of water was made not so long ago - in the movie "Volga-Volga" ("Without water – neither here nor there"). Some comments on this discovery are set out in "Cold Nuclear Fusion", volume 8. Main remarks:

- water is not a simple mixture, but a COMPLEX STRUCTURE;
- if water is used by a biostructure, then it has the necessary octave frequencies and energy characteristics on which a living cell of the biostructure is built;
- changing the energy characteristics of water, removing the octave does not ensure the use of this water by biostructures;
- changing energy characteristics and removing octave frequencies transform the structure of the molecule into the ion of the corresponding metal (up to and including strontium) without changing the external characteristics;
- the recovery process is the process of introducing lost energy parameters into a water molecule and (or together with it) adding the corresponding lost octave frequencies;
- mineral compounds, which themselves are water waste, CANNOT BE used to change the energy characteristics of water and even more so to introduce the necessary octave frequencies into water molecules (in human food too, goes along one path, the reverse has not yet been mastered);
- the use of mineral compounds to change the energy parameters of water requires research in connection with a possible change in the structures of a living cell for new characteristics;
- the most realistic scheme for changing the properties of biologically active water is the use of carbon C₆₀, the molecule of which has been synthesized.

By the way, the C_{60} molecule is an assembly of 12 dodecahedron.

I think that the management of Rospotrebnadzor does not know that water is NOT an AUTONOMOUS object of research. In various cases of its use - from watering the streets to human consumption (which already consists of one hundred percent water – in the process of its development, there is no mechanical transfer of mineral ions and the formation of, for example, a skeleton, but the loss of properties of a certain water with the formation of ions according to a given program), it is necessary to compare the object of research (water) with the user object (human). This is a tandem and it is considered as a whole. This does not mean that it is necessary to unite the Institute of Water Problems (Moscow), the Institute of River Fleet Engineers and the Institute of Man (St. Petersburg). According to Parkinson's Law, such a merger will only lead to a doubling of the state (total) and a decrease of an octave (in this case, eight times) in the efficiency of work.

A person does not have structures THAT DO NOT have a water molecule in their composition, and its elimination means the appearance of a dead cell. We do not just "pour" water into a test tube, the walls of which withstand GOST by water (by the way, how many genotypes, so many "test tubes", which means that there should be so many GOST standards)... The approximate number of "test tubes" is about 755. Rospotrebnadzor does not know this. A person is not a vessel for storing liquids, and certainly not a testing ground for new unique shampoos, herbal infusions from "other polygons", water infused with the output product of the Planet's Vital activity, and even more so the addition of some hormones and antibiotics to it. The current state of the fluid consumed is consistent with the current state of the Brain and its ability to use this fluid.

The well-known phrase "If there is no water in the tap ..." does not mean that it is necessary to urgently look for enemies of the people or draw water from another source located in the apartment or add something to the water according to "regulatory" recommendations and even the European WHO office. It is quite possible that they, in Rospotrebnadzor, have simply lost the corresponding instrumental base (the feeling – according to Marxism-Leninism). If the sensitivity threshold is lowered, then a person does not care what the pH value of water is – the Brain's reaction to its change may not be instantaneous.

It is well known that water is H_2O , it is also known that water is NOT HOMOGENEOUS, there are thousands of variants of the water molecule, but no one can show their distinctive properties. Science mixes everything into one pile – sea water (salt plus H_2O), drinking water in which salts are dissolved, industrial water (for example, after passing through treatment facilities) and water in animal cages. Using terminology taken from D. Mendeleev's table, we can say that water is only hydrogen and oxygen, but there are no theories showing why they should form the same type of compound. The nature of the formation of water on Earth, the method of its movement, as well as the cause of high water, floods, rains, thunderstorms are unknown.

What is acid rain and is it related to technological progress? This is known about water, that there is an indicator of the "negative logarithm of the concentration of hydrogen ions", or pH, that water can turn into steam or ice, the boundary points of which are taken as a temperature scale. It is known that there is "heavy" and "light" water, as well as the fact that water is a conductor of an electric charge ... Those who want to know more – pick up the "Shovel of Knowledge" and go "dig" the works of A.M. Khatybov.

Having read about such an initiative of the leadership of Rospotrebnadzor and many other initiatives that, I am sure, await us in the future, answer the question yourself: "Will the "SvetL" Programs develop and improve based on what is happening?..".
