

WHERE, WHERE DID THEY NOT GO AND WHY?

Many people can only think in patterns. What does not fit into the template is "stoned"

F. D. Shkrudnev

Do not make premature conclusions and do not look at the situation through the prism of this or that template.

And most importantly — distance yourself from emotions

F. D. Shkrudnev

Off we go...

The past is stuck, does not go away and does not let go, the list of related questions does not find a set of appropriate answers in our heads, returning to the main point: "Why?". We need to figure it out, but where is the stove?.. [1]

Oh, those people! So, they think that they think, without even thinking about what this "Eureka!" is, who unexpectedly visited. After all, suddenly it happens only with health, or rather with its problems, and it seems that enlightenment still needs to be earned, otherwise the table of chemical elements, similar to Mendeleev's, would have more names than there are now.

Modern civilization is a terrible sight, the picture of which can be imagined by a cathedral of builders who have no idea about the building they are constructing.

There is a construction site, you can find a foreman, a customer, but you can't find – what will happen in the end. There is no such familiar public poster of the finished facility being built in the past. What helped people to survive in such conditions is difficult to say, apparently a sense of process rather than reflection and achievement of results. The only exceptions are those who have already understood the meaninglessness of the current state and have come to Development as a process of INFORMATION SATURATION of the CORRESPONDING CONSTRUCTIVE ELEMENTS of the MIND. The remaining question for them is Information about the Created World, which goes beyond what is acquired with the help of the available senses, and its Understanding, resulting in Knowledge.

There are obstacles between the person and the goal, generalized in the current ideas by the concept of "problem". But they usually do not think about the source of the goal. Where does it come from? What's behind her achievement? "Individual" construction is one thing, collective construction is another... Apparently, it all started with this – with a GOAL that was turned from a general and planetary one into the "American dream". And the farthest from the original was the most personal, as the closest to the shirt. That is, the original task, inscribed in the general cosmophysical processes of the Universe, solved through the harmonious unity of Man with the surrounding natural nature on the basis of Intelligent orientation of the entire process of civilizational development of the inertial part of All That Exists on Earth, was replaced by an externally imputed one that distorted the original plan. It turned out to be the civilizational way of life of the destructive parasitic hegemony of social councils of people who are concerned about satisfying the CONSTANTLY INCREASING LEVEL OF EVERYDAY NEED for domestic and social living conditions formed through violence against people. Why is that?

More than 18,000 years ago, the Earth was invaded by the "civilization" of the Ebres, which came from the Constellation of the Big Dipper (planet Sur, the fourth star of Megrez). In addition to the habitat conditions on it, which resulted in a form of life in the form of spiders up to 4 m in size, it remains unclear how the life-containing planet managed to gain intelligence. But it is obvious (thanks to A.M. Khatybov) that it needed resources – traces of theft of rare earth metals, tin, mercury in the form of canyons is easy to find all over our planet. And also in the Knowledge of the human cell and the Brain.

Apparently, this is the way of its existence, probably stemming from the limited POSSIBILITIES of MODEL SYNTHESIS, probably requiring other energetic states of Mind, for some reason (the level of development of that very intelligence) inaccessible to the invaders who found salvation in technologies of destruction, in parasitism based on violence. The reason why they did not destroy the Earth, as usual with respect to other planets, is unknown, only their desire to tow the planet closer to themselves and "deal with" what is required is revealed. What this desire includes is still hidden, only an attempt to imitate an Intelligent civilization on Earth is obvious, the logical meaning of which is to join a family of the same Civilizations and obviously not with "noble" goals.

This is a brief digression into the already known past - an attempt to draw attention to the fact that such an experience of dealing with the Earth among the Ebers is obviously the first, it was necessary to create a civilizational similarity on the go, testing methods and techniques "live", ruthlessly destroying the results of unsuccessful experiments and accumulating positive achievements within the framework of two main programs for changing people – "Energy Biogenesis of Flesh Cells" and "Energy-Informational Dialectics of the Development of Brain Genotypes". By the way, the whole experiment WAS EVENTUALLY RECOGNIZED AS A FAILURE, and it was decided to repeat it starting from the year 0, that is, from the moment religion was imputed as a means of controlling the "golden billion" (input of control frequencies) and its visible parts – chapels, churches, mosques, Buddhist temples and other similar structures (terminals). Presumably, genotype 423, created by (year 0), was the first to embody the controllability of people needed by the aliens (although worship of the "higher powers" was imputed to the first – 421 genotype in 1605 BC), therefore, the final planned fate of 421 and 422 (882 BC) – on general grounds – would have been as unenviable as that of the Brain Genotypes not involved in the "development" program.

Thoroughly remade in the interests of combining human flesh and an alien brain, man required the invention of control methods – an independently thinking individual was not needed by the ebra.

Thus "dark matter" and the material World was born, responding to the controllability of the octave-limited state of the human Brain, the individual goals of everyone in it, based on the methods of transforming a person from this state into "people" described in the "Fundamentals of the Formation of Humanity".

So, the big trouble, which lies not in the means, but in the current set of goals, excluded the unity of those living on the planet, "united" around the exaggerated, but precisely expressed "formula of life" of the famous movie hero: "Stole, drank, went to prison", dressed up in "was born, created a copy (sometimes more than one), he left", leaving her (them) acquired (it happens that something remains for people for the benefit or harm of such). Although in the means, too: people think in templates and in relation to the question "Why did you come into the light of God?" existing cliches are not provided, although no, not quite so: the answer to this question that arises for some was NOT IMPLEMENTED. The most important template, as the "answer" that "comes to mind" to people, is a calm perception WITHOUT THE WHOLENESS OF EXISTENCE, which actually had a well-defined individual role in the play called "LIFE" for participants of the Brain Genotype development program or involvement in the crowd not involved in the programmatically predetermined sense of being, which changed according to the stages of the programs of energy biogenesis and the development of brain genotypes around the target orientation of the development of civilization - the production of goods and services, the improvement of methods and techniques to increase the quantity and improve their quality.

Attention!

So, let's start with the thought that visited an individual or a whole team of them, the essence of the result is the transformation of energies that came from outside with the help of a special tool, with which the endowed part of the living on the planet, designated as Reasonable, manifested in the incoming consequences - the very "Eureka!". It happens that such a manifestation is also in the form of an outburst of energy that has left the "head" - a thought does not cease to live after it has slipped out of the depths of the hidden from view, creating, and sometimes doing.

In the "ideal" version, the action of the mechanism is a contact state (resonance) between the circuit of connecting brain neurons formed under conditions of gravitational accompaniment and incoming information (in one of its three types), the idea of the physical basis of which (mechanism) is given by the so-called "communication tubes", as a similarity of permanent connections of neurons into a result that acquired the linguistic form of a "scheme" (and about them – the well-known Shukhov Tower).

The current result of the correct deciphering of what has been received, apparently, is in the literal-verbal form of the manifestations of the Brain's capabilities in its current state, or (less often) the image - in its original, figurative. Such schemes can be both temporary and permanent in nature and are destroyed after the termination of maintenance, which is what those who study the Brain functioning "with pleasure" note

"under the microscope", observing the neurons' vital activity on the lower inertial levels of their existence. They are unaware of the EXTERNAL CAUSES of the phenomenon of such structures and their disappearance. For science, the visible is enough – it's calmer and "warmer".

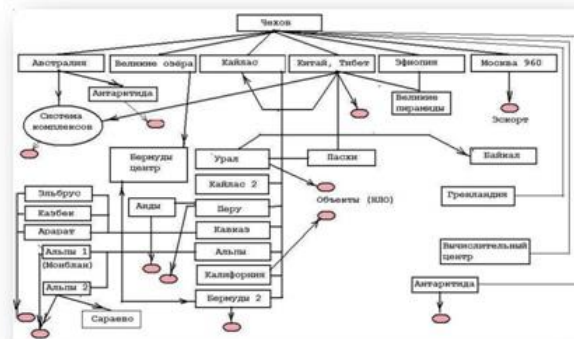

Projecting the tool onto the template, we assume its essence to be a stable state of the scheme, partly expressed indirectly by the ability to speak, see, hear, etc., including habits and other individual manifestations, generalized by the concepts of "character", "personality", etc., from the arsenal of psychologists, apparently created in the CORRESPONDING PART of the current construction of the Mind. This means that, supported from the outside for the entire duration of the existence of the template and the corresponding manifestation, we retain the ability to speak, hear, touch, smell for the rest of our lives, rarely change habits and attachments. Why and how?

We will return a little later, after realizing the whole picture. To complete this part of it, it only remains to emphasize the importance of galactic pulsars for the existence of inert on the planet and the entire Galaxy (separately - intergalactic cathedrals), especially the "cores" of the Galaxy (black holes) and stellar ones - for the entire composition of the planets around it (Reasonable), in order to form a very superficial picture of "thinking", with details which can be found on the pages of the "Constructive Theory of Everything"

(B.°V.°Makov). And pay attention to the existence of information targeting, embodied with the help of so-called magic squares (for this here: <https://shkrudnev.com/index.php/home/monografii / svetliy-venik/17-publikatsii/kniga-4-fizika-realij-dopolnyaya-prinimaem-mozaiku-realnosti/213-glava-3-inoe-ozoznanie>). And also, to emphasize the uniqueness of the connection schemes that distinguish us with our Brain from all other representatives of any other civilizations, no matter how many of them there are in the entire Universe, and the ability to function only with mandatory energy-informational guardianship from the objects of the SUN and the EARTH at the SAME TIME!

It's time to move on to the search for the mechanism of pattern thinking, going beyond the retention of neuron connection schemes. The aliens, who have studied the planet well, could not replace everything on it - it would simply die, we mean, first of all, MANAGEMENT of the phenomenon, existence and development of everything inert and living on the planet. Its origins are the Mind of the Earth. They had to block the native one and use their own, creating tools for it, called a Control System, an idea of which is given in the Writings of A.M. Khatybov. Part of it is in the picture, and the description is here: http://lit.lib.ru/h/hatybow_a_m/grin.shtml.

The main thing is that behind this scheme is a person who, through it, has acquired the state of "people", which differs from "Man", for example, by the possibility of imputation, control over it, CONTROL OF CONSCIOUSNESS. And here, probably, it is necessary to stop for a minute ... Because Consciousness is a "book" that a person writes all his life as a "draft" of the Mind. And being born again does it again and again, starting to learn to breathe, speak, hear, walk and so on. Whether it has always been this way is not yet known, but the logic of starting from the beginning may be changes in the surrounding natural reality, to which it is necessary to adapt anew. The Ebers could well use this mechanism for broader purposes, "fixing" the template in a similar way, imputing them to already known methods described by N.V. Levashov.

And where did the invaders go next, after the "change" of minds? To replace the content of the tool in solving the problem to form an "energy" basis. The same, but a different Sun, programs from the Moon, a "different" Earth, the brain of the atmosphere – and people are "ready", as well as the alien control system accompanying the whole process with religious buildings (who needs it).

The invaders remade the flesh to suit their tasks, introduced new channels of interaction with the Brain, which regulated, for example, the craving for needs, not to mention the exclusion of the possibility of the birth of thoughts about the same meaning of being, the appearance of which often ended badly for such an individual "independently" (drunkness) or with the help of social machines of violence (psychiatric hospital, other ways of isolation from society). It's a good thing that the cage didn't give in to the Ebra! And without that, it will still take a whole millennium to restore the flesh! Although the entire transition to the primordial existence of energies will take another 50 years. Total!

Marsh!

The three-level and three-type scheme of information exchange introduced (used) by the ebras (information of a world-forming nature, cognitive and controlling) was expressed in four types of management of the current state "stored" in Consciousness (the possibilities of acquiring and using information), based on the functional endowment of each individual:

- the main active management part (executive scientists, senators, highly qualified operators-managers from the working-class environment, the entire array of administrative officials and managers of the financial sector, etc.) – up to the 66-base octave;

- a functionally limited number of individuals in a strictly identified unilateral acquisition of cognitive and controlling information (individuals who "made" discoveries in science, historically significant personalities who turned the course of history, etc.);

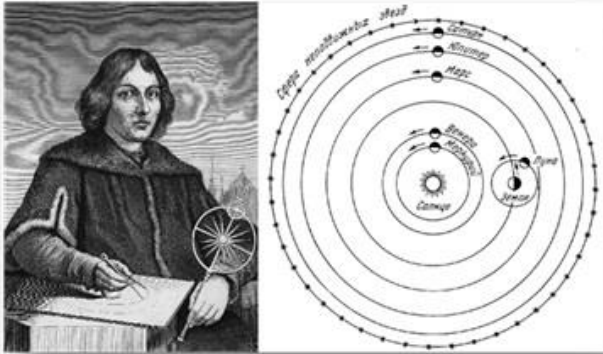

- a portion of individuals of the 421 and 422 Genotypes (with a brain no higher than 61 octaves) with a one-sided constant receipt of current information in order to correct certain program actions, which turned out to be enough to have a block - transcoder of Control System commands and a set of certain encyclopedic specialized knowledge;

- a small number of individuals with a Brain above 71 octaves, who had a two-way permanent connection with the Control System, were planned to be part of the "Golden Million."

The chosen option is not from a good life: it was simply impossible to simplify the potential possibilities of brain functions further – they would lose their intelligence. It had to be blocked, providing complete "technical" isolation of people from existing contact with the true states of the Universal Mind. The three-level state of the altered Brain indicated in the "Constructive Theory of Everything" (neutrino, antineutrino and proton) has, rather, a linguistic reflection of the fact that there are three INERTIAL levels of the Brain for the majority and a level above 66 octaves (NON-INERTIAL state) for a limited number of people who required direct control of Consciousness. The technical aspect of ISOLATION included cubic phase lattices in the control layer $-4,200 \text{ m} = +14,800 \text{ m}$ of energy-informational translation and brain control in the 63rd octave. Thus, the true control from the outside was replaced by the imputed illusion introduced by the Ebrov System.

The clarity of the mechanism of bringing the cognitive component leaves only questions of its source: the Ptolemaic system of the world with the center in the form of the Earth was unsuccessfully opposed by Nikita of Syracuse and Philolaus. And only Copernicus, Giordano Bruno and Galileo were able to convey to the world the heliocentricity of its device. And in the history of science – Darwin, almost all of whose criticism of evolutionism was mainly carried out by religious figures, not scientists; Einstein, whose postulates of theories were questioned for physical and political reasons; the disadvantages of Rutherford's planetary model of atoms, which did not outweigh the fear of the consequences of the truth about his device, which became known only with the change of Control Systems on Earth.

And the importance and effectiveness of the imputed method of control lies in its results: individuals deprived of cognitive information form the backbone of adherents of extreme social forms (fascism, rabid nationalism, including religious forms), seems another way to bring a person to the state of "people". Although even here, in relation to "reasonableness" ... In 1888, within the framework of the Cosmopolitanism program, a unified system of information perception was formed by creating legends, "archaeological" miracles, which is still in force (ideology). And further projection on the performing states – mental assignments, labor and work – the revolutionary situation in Russia: Lenin and Trotsky ("the work of the mental") were supported by a narrow circle of revolutionaries ("the work of the assignment") and the broad masses of performers ("the work of the assignment")...

So, patterns that differ from temporary manifestations of the existence of neuron connection schemes. Science turned a blind eye to the reasons for the formation of both, only occasionally mentioning the influence of space on the process, focusing on the secondary - the transmission of signals between neurons, having already identified more than 500 so-called transmitters - substances that provide it. But without understanding the main thing - control and the fact that the observed is a consequence of processes taking place at other, higher constructive and energy levels of the existence of a neuron. It is on them, through six translations (transmission of information) of the structure, that the formation of control actions is carried out: Man is a model copy of the Universe. BUT only Man in the totality of inertial and non-inertial states. Then the very process of formation of schemes, which in its truth has a gravitational basis, passes through the protection of the Brain established by the Ebras. The concept of true gravity differs from the generally accepted Newtonian attraction of all those to each other. Its essence is beyond the scope of the current interest, the existence of such is important for it. But then why are there so many transmitters? Maybe scientists are being misled by the content of the connection associated with the form? Such a possibility exists, but the details are not yet timely for discussion.

Let's just go back to the already mentioned importance of stellar (Stellar, that is, Solar) pulsars for the process of controlling a part of life on the planet. It was limited by the possibilities before the arrival of the Ebras and remained the same with them, which manifested itself in the "size" of the planned golden billion, golden million and everything from above. They also "used" the possibility of direct control from the side of a one-sided or two-sided control system. But the experimental mass needed much more, and there were no control capabilities! They had to invent religion and other mechanisms. And one seems to be the main template – THE SENSITIVEL REACTION OF PEOPLE TO EXTERNAL INFLUENCES.

Within the framework of this idea of people, psychologists seem to wander, noticing "individual originality, temporal and situational stability of their behavior." But this science is the result of statistical observations of the main groups of living that have not yet been identified, that is, those subject to the program for the development of the Brain genotypes in 12 generations and the majority of living as an experimental basis for the development of the first. Evidence of the unscientific nature of this science is at least seven models of the human psyche: psychodynamic (Z. Freud), analytical (K. Jung), humanistic (K. Rogers), cognitive (Kelly), behavioral (J. Watson, B. Skinner, A. Bandura and J. Rotter), activity (S. ° L. ° Rubinshtein, A. N. Leontiev, K. A. Abulkhanova-Slavskaya, A. ° V. ° Brushlinsky) and dispositional (E. Kretschmer, G. ° Eysenck , G. ° Allport, B. M. Teplov, V. D. Nebylitsyn and others). Let's leave the scientists alone with the subject of interest. Although, perhaps, an important component of people lies in individual originality - a picture of the worldview imputed to him through the education and authority of pundits, to whom this knowledge was transmitted by methods "known" by Newton and not so much, and behavioral...

Дофамин/Dopamine – Окситоцин/Oxytocin – Эндорфин/Endorphin – Серотонин/Serotonin

DOPAMINE is a hormone of motivation, gives a sense of anticipation of something pleasant, forcing us to act, forms feelings of reward and desire, emotional reactions accompanying motor activity. The body can replenish it in "SIMPLE" ways: delicious food, sex, interesting information and entertainment, drugs (this is already the most neglected case). And "DIFFICULT" ways: to do something that you have planned and feel successful, a winner, surpass yourself, overcome something. Do you feel the first catch? The result is the same, the paths are different. And which one will a person choose, forming a habit?.. SEROTONIN is an inhibitory neurotransmitter that makes us calmer, is associated with functions involved in the regulation of mood, sleep, sexual and eating behavior. OXYTOCIN is a hormone of love, trust and affection (mother to child, man and woman). ENDORPHINS are a group of 20 peptide hormones similar in structure that the body uses as a natural painkiller, in response to stress, to maintain the effectiveness and efficiency of the body when a person laughs, falls in love, has sex or eats delicious food. The system REWARDS BY TEACHING: a person gets pleasure, and cause-and-effect associations are formed in his brain. And then, when the pleasure passes and the question arises how to get it again, there will be a simple solution and the simplest means. And he is no longer a person, but a human...

And then? Remember N. V. Levashov, who pointed out the necessity for the accumulation of primary matter to move to a higher level. Repetition, among other methods, plays this very role of "accumulator", for example, in the form of the same reaction to external "irritation". What's next in the projection of the Knowledge given by Nikolai Viktorovich? The constructive fixation of the "template" in other components of the Mind, the fallacy of which he sometimes discovered by "digging" into the Essence and "cleansing" it until such a deviation from the Truth appears. Pointing to the importance of man in the formation of the Essence, Nikolai Viktorovich spoke about the possibility of a wrong evolutionary path, the content of which was part of the efforts of the invaders who used him for this. How, it all makes more sense...

Let us go further in understanding the mechanism, for the invaders also interfered with the composition of the flora. Why? Well, it's part of our food! We do not know the composition of the original ones before the invasion, but the high-octave brain and flesh obviously needed other "food products". But for the current one...

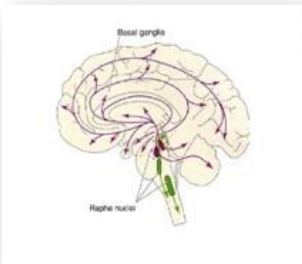

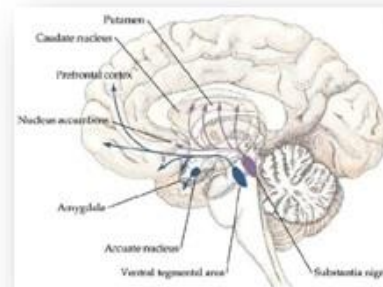

For the existence of flesh, people need 20 amino acids. Of these, seven are NOT PRODUCED IN THE BODY (valine, isoleucine, leucine, lysine, methionine, threonine, tryptophan, phenylalanine), and 11 CAN, although they can be supplied WITH FOOD (alanine, arginine, asparagine, aspartic acid, histidine, glycine, glutamine, glutamic acid, proline, serine, tyrosine, cysteine). The synthesis of dopamine begins with tyrosine (it can come from outside and be produced in the body), serotonin – from tryptophan (protein food of animal and vegetable origin), sunlight is absolutely necessary for the synthesis of this hormone and neurotransmitter, oxytocin - a peptide hormone from nine sequentially connected amino acids (cysteine, tyrosine, isoleucine, glutamine, asparagine, cistin, proline, leucine, glycine).

It only remains to add that sesame seeds, olive oil, turmeric, black pepper, animal products (meat, fish, milk, eggs), bananas, green tea, oregano, almonds, apples, beets, avocado, watermelon, beans, leafy green vegetables, peanuts, oatmeal, rosemary, wheat germ and ginkgo biloba contribute to the increase of dopamine in the body. To produce more serotonin, you should pay attention to eggs, hard cheeses, turkey, nuts, salmon, tofu, pineapple, magnesium (fruits, nuts, legumes and whole grains). Oxytocin, what are "useful" are cheese, seeds, meat, fish, beans, protein sources (turkey, eggs, beef, milk and dairy products).

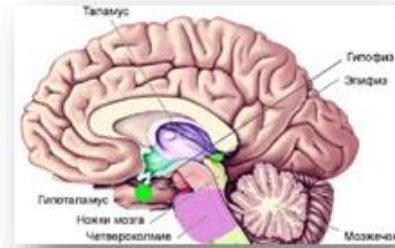

It is also worth paying attention to how the mechanism of production of at least these substances (neurotransmitters and hormones) or groups of them is arranged.

Dopamine is produced in the substantia nigra, an area of the brain that is responsible for regulating movement, muscle tone, etc., as well as in the hypothalamus, hippocampus and striatum (basal ganglia). It is produced by special dopaminergic neurons. This hormone is also produced in the adrenal glands, kidneys and intestines.

The production and release of dopamine in the brain is increased 5-10 times by narcotic substances. And then they reduce it, forcing you to increase the dose.

Only 5% of the required amount of serotonin is produced in the brain (epiphysis and they affect the emotional state), and 80-95% is synthesized and stored in the cells of the gastrointestinal tract. This part of the serotonin produced (as well as dopamine) does not penetrate into the brain "thanks" to the blood-brain barrier.

Oxytocin is produced in the hypothalamus. The active substance comes from the cells of the hypothalamus to the pituitary gland, where it is stored and released under the influence of external stimuli.

A brief and superficial review of the above highlights the role of the hypothalamus and pituitary gland in the "production" of hormones of "joy", the first of them coordinates the work of the endocrine system and pituitary gland, participates in the regulation of the autonomic nervous system and appetite control, the second controls the thyroid gland, adrenal glands and reproductive organs. And the changes in human flesh could not but be accompanied by the correction of their work. Which, future knowledge about a Human will clearly show.

Today it is obvious that the Ebr were not able to change the Mind, they used a different way – mind control and through it – Human distortion. The scale of the changes made by ebras to establish control over Consciousness is significant, an important role in maintaining the state of "people", accentuated by an unconscious material application, is played by a sensory-template leaving, the elimination of which requires a person to understand the changes made and steps to eliminate them, which, obviously, will be accompanied through the native System. Keep an eye on what she "offers" as help...
